Under 43 CFR 429.13(a), Reclamation may require the applicant to furnish additional material before granting a use authorization.

3. Enclose an application fee of $100, payable to the Bureau of Reclamation when submitting your application. You must submit an application fee of $100 (payable to the Bureau of Reclamation) with your use authorization application to cover the estimated minimum administrative costs to Reclamation to review your application. Failure to submit the required application fee and adequate information will cause delays in evaluation of the application.

The granting of any use authorization on Reclamation lands, facilities, or waterbodies is discretionary with Reclamation, and there is no guarantee that Reclamation will approve any application to use Reclamation lands, facilities, or waterbodies. If, after a preliminary review of the application, Reclamation determines that the granting of a use authorization is not compatible with the present or future uses of the lands, facilities, or waterbodies, the use authorization will not be granted.

If Reclamation finds your proposed use compatible with Reclamation project purposes or operations, we will advise you of any additional estimated administrative costs in excess of the initial $100 application fee, which you will be required to pay before processing of your application continues. Administrative costs include, but are not limited to: appraisal and appraisal review; compliance with National Environmental Policy Act and the National Historic Preservation Act; and Reclamation's review, preparation and issuance of the use authorization.

5. Submit the application, application fee of $100, and any attachments to your local Reclamation office. No activity may begin until a fully executed use authorization document is issued by Reclamation.
