

ID: APHIS-2016-0019-0002

Tracking Number: 1k0-8pci-a0aq

View original printed format:

Document Information

Date Posted: Apr 29, 2016

Show More Details

Submitter Information

Submitter Name: jean publee

City: flemington

Country: United States

State or Province: NJ

For related information, Open Docket Folder

Show agency attachment(s)

Attachments

View All (0)

Comment

View document:

no sheep or goats should ever be sent from state to state. they should be kept in each state where they are raised. also none of them should be pastured on national land. they should be required to rent or lease private land for their grazing, not public land. we want wildlife on our public land, not these cattle ranchers profit animal that will be slaughtered for money and greed. the scrapie has been extended by fort collins stupidity in originally bringing it about when they put deer in a corral where sheep had been raised. it has extended since that time. the people in australia even emailed to fort collins at the time telling them how stupid they were at fort collins. mankind causes a lot of problems for animals with their stupidity.

no sheep or goats should be moved from state to state. this should also apply to all other mammals. no deer, no cows, etc. no birds, like nj hunters want to import quail from georgia and they are bringing them in, bringing ga diseases with them. there should be no tinkering with this state to state transmission. not enough is done to be sure that diseases don't come with the imported animals. it's enough to take care of what happens in your own state. nj state agencies import fish and have all kinds of fish diseases, probably some of which was imported. it's time to stop this import/export of animals. or birds. or reptiles. nobody is doing the health testing before they move them and diseases are imported. the same thing happens with people when you import people from places like africa, china, we see the diseases that were practically wiped out here being rejuvenated. we need to stop this trend. certainly what is happening in animals is proven by what is going on with people.

No documents available.

Attachments

View All (0)
