Dear USTR,

As a U.S. based wine importer and distributor, I am writing to express concern not just for the wine industry of the entire country, but the restaurant industry that relies on access to competitive quality and price in order to be profitable and remain in business.

Already, 25% tariffs are hurting these industries. Now, with the disastrous effects of COVID on the U.S. economy, it is imperative that businesses can regain financial footing unimpeded by extending or increasing tariffs.

Thank you for your consideration of my statement.
