Hello,

My father and I run a family owned and operated import and distribution business in the U.S. with a focus on importing European wines. The company, founded over 30 years ago, is currently operated by two generations, something we are very proud of. The new wine tariffs are affecting our business in every way, and we are extremely concerned that, should the tariffs remain in place much longer, our business, a U.S. business in existence over 30 years, will fail to exist. These tariffs will essentially put us and thousands of other importers and potentially hundreds of thousands of American employees of import companies here in the US, out of business. Please help our family business survive by ending these tariffs.

Thank you for your consideration.
