RE: Large Civil Aircraft Dispute Portal

To Whom it may concern:

As a small business owner of a wine logistics business, myself and my community of importers, distributors, warehouse vendors, restaurants and retailers are tightly tied to the Large Civil Aircraft dispute. The effects of wine tariffs have been crucifying for my business and have wreaked havoc on our industry across the US. As the hospitality industry in particular has been economically marred by COVID-19, our entire industry continues to get rocked by forces outside of our control.

In response to the USTR's need to revamp a comment portal, by all means, do what you have to do because our comments on or about June 23rd and hopefully continued physical presence in Washington DC will flood in, and I personally will gather as many voices as I can to put pressure on the USTR to remove alcohol from the carousel of affected products imported to the US with unfair tariffs.

Sincerely,
Alexi C. Cashen
