We are a small wine import company based in Utah that works with wine distributors all over the country. The tariffs that went into effect last October has taken a significant toll on our business, as well as our partners that we sell to. The extra 25% from some of the countries we import wine from make it incredibly difficult to sell, and it really only affects Americans, our jobs, and our industry. Not only do I strongly urge for these tariffs to be reversed, but I am also in strong opposition to the proposed changes to the USTR Large Civil Aircraft portal because they could have yet another great and terrible effect on our industry. Times are already tough right now, and we need to support getting our economy back on the right foot as soon as possible. Thank you for reading my comments.
