Hello,

As an importer of French, Germany, and Spanish wines, I would strongly urge the US government to reconsider its stance on tariffs.

We represent hundreds of small, family farms that see the USA as a future market where they can expand and reach new heights. Tariffs actions strongly hinder this market expansion.

We also hear consistent demand among American consumers for these European wines. In fact our business has not stopped growing since its inception 5 years ago. Our growth supports many aspects of the local economy, and we would love to continue making an impact.

Thank you for your time.
