I enjoy a good working relationship with my SBDC. I don't want to be solicited by SBA or its agents.

I have used SBDC and appreciate all they have done for us. one of the things they always help with is the confusing language used.

It would be simpler to ask separate questions if the information is necessary. Information for surveys could be supplied later, if necessary. Why not have several choices?

I am concerned about waive all claims - why is that necessary?

and i don't think SBA can't protect my information, there are too many examples of government agencies failing to protect personal information. Also, this suggests more dissemination of personal information which can only lead to less security. i feel that SBA should make its request clearer and its intent clearer, and

This information collection is unnecessary. SBA has no need for my contact information in order to do its job. My personal information is not a performance indicator.
