PART I.—GENERAL INFORMATION

Background. — On October 6, 2020, the Florida Fruit and Vegetable Association, the Florida Strawberry Growers Association, and the Florida Farm Bureau submitted a request to the United States Trade Representative (USTR) for monitoring of imports of fresh or chilled strawberries under the perishable agricultural product provisions of section 202(d)(1) of the Trade Act (19 U.S.C. § 2252(d)(1)). In response to that request, the USTR determined that imports of strawberries satisfy the requirements of section 202(d)(1)(A) of the Trade Act.

In accordance with section 202(d)(1)(B) of the Trade Act, the USTR requested, under section 332(g) of the Tariff Act of 1930, that the Commission monitor and investigate imports of fresh or chilled strawberries, provided for in subheading 0810.10 of the Harmonized Tariff Schedule of the United States (HTS). He further requested that the monitoring and investigation include the collection and analysis of information that would expedite an investigation under section 202(b) of the Trade Act.

Section 202(d)(1)(C) of the Trade Act provides procedures under which domestic producers of a perishable agricultural product may, in a petition filed under section 202(a) of the Trade Act, request provisional relief. Under those procedures, if the Commission has monitored imports of the article for at least 90 days, the domestic industry may, in such a petition, request a preliminary determination and provisional relief pending completion of a full Commission investigation. Should that occur, the Commission would have 21 days, from the day on which the request was received, to make a preliminary injury determination, and if in the affirmative, to recommend provisional relief to the President.

Fresh or chilled strawberries. — For purposes of this investigation, the fresh or chilled strawberries are those provided for in subheading 0810.10 of the HTS.

Reporting of information. — If information is not readily available from your records in exactly the form requested, please provide carefully prepared estimates.

Calendar year. — Report the requested data on a calendar year basis. If your firm, however, is unable to do so and has reported its data on a marketing year basis that differs from the requested calendar basis, please indicate that in response to question 3b and indicate the marketing year used.

Confidentiality and release of information. — The commercial and financial data furnished in response to this questionnaire that reveal the individual operations of your firm will be treated as confidential by the Commission to the extent that such data are not otherwise available to the public and will not be disclosed except as may be required by law. The Commission will not release information that the Commission considers to be confidential business information unless the party submitting it had notice, at the time of submission, that such information would be released by the Commission, or such party subsequently consents to the release of the information (see 19 U.S.C. 1332(g)).

Should a petition be filed and the Commission institute an investigation under section 202(b) of the Trade Act, some or all of the information that you submit may be included in the report that the Commission sends to the USTR and the President or otherwise provides to USTR. In addition, the Commission may release such information to authorized representatives of interested parties under an administrative protective order during an investigation under section 202(b) of the Trade Act (see 19 U.S.C. § 2252(i) and 19 CFR 206.17).
