

Author Full Name : Jean Bell IveyReceived Date : 03/02/2021 05:55 PMComments Received :

It is very important to the National Science Foundation to have access to these survey data to provide support to young scientists in the form of post-doctoral & education support positions as well as support continuation & replication for their dissertation research. Future initiatives that serve public & private advancement in the sciences & commercial venture arise from this interaction & reinforcement of joint purposes.