1	I have many years of experience working in the computer science industry. From troubleshooting devices to creating spreadsheets, I am very tech savvy. I would love to have the opportunity to further myself in this role. I've always wanted to work with Cyber security, it's becoming more demanding as technology grows.	No response. No question asked.

3	Dear President Trump, We've watched with interest your feeble and bizarre attempts to steal a presidential election you lost by 72 electoral votes and by over 6 million total votes. Here's a few things that Team Trump tried: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> - to throw out all Pennsylvania votes for president, while for some reason honoring votes for all other offices - to declare all mail-in ballots as illegal - to avenge two GOP voters whose ballots were rejected by suing other counties that had nothing to do with this - to pressure state canvassing boards to refuse -- or at least delay -- certification - to get GOP state legislatures to award you all electoral votes because of unproven "fraud" - to gin up a conspiracy theory involving China, Venezuela, Cuba, Germany, Spain, the Clintons, George Soros and the ghost of Hugo Chavez - to threaten GOP senators and house members that didn't line up behind these anti-democratic tactics and conspiracy theories Well it's over. Done. Finito. You lost bigly. Not only that, you threw so many tantrums that a Google image search for "sore loser" shows your ugly face. Good riddance to you and your corrupt, incompetent family. - America	Thank you for your input.
