Current process: Even after submitting children's Green card application i485 along with their parents and if they turn 21 years, they are considered as age out. Age out children will not be provided green card along with their parents.

Issue: Due to this pandemic situation there are considerable delays from USCIS in the timelines. Because of these delays children are getting aged out.

Suggested solution: Children aging out during this pandemic situation should be given exception. Specifically the children who are aging out in the year 2020 and 2021 should be exempted and they should be considered for the Green card along with their parents.
