Dear Dr Reamer,

I apologize for not responding sooner, but we appreciate learning of your interest on the proposed needs assessment study about public activities related to workforce development. We unfortunately do not yet have any data collection instruments to share but welcome the chance to learn about your related research on this matter. Please let me know if you would welcome the chance to informally talk further sometime in the next several weeks.

Best,

Matt

Dear Dr. Reamer -

To briefly introduce myself, I joined the Institute of Museum and Library Services just over 6 months ago and have been working on Measures that Matter project related to workforce development in libraries. Last year you inquired about receiving the questionnaire and we are happy to finally be able to share the current draft with you. This version still needs to be cleared through OMB so may not be the final tool, but I'm happy to share the final version also should it change between now and the administration of it. Please confirm receipt of this email for our records.

I'm also happy to chat by phone if you have any questions, just let me know.

Sincerely,

Emily
