since not every citizen of the us either has a working computer it is far too early to phase out written applications. i do not support moving solely to computer. and iwth our computer system so leaky and subject to hacking, goingonly to computer could in fact wreak havoc on america. we hae a leaky computer system that is constantly being hacked so that it is unusable. all privacy has been strippede away from computer users already. we need to make sure we have a better system before we make too many moves like this.
