General Comment

I was shocked to see that someone estimated it takes one hour to fill out the Continuing Disability form. It takes more than an hour to simply read and understand what is needed! It takes me days, if not weeks to get together all the documentation you require. There is never enough room for the number of doctors whose care I'm under, nor is there room for all of my disabilities. Not only that, it is extremely traumatic to fill out, because it is terrifying to think that my SSDI might be taken away. I often have to have my therapist walk me through it, because duking it out brings out so much trauma.
