General Comment

I completed my first CDR in January 2021. I required help from my spouse do to the organizational complexity of the paperwork and my medical files. It required much longer than 60 minutes of time to just collect the information to fill out the form. We spent a couple of hours identifying the information needed and then consolidating it to fully answer the questions but in the brevity required. We then had trouble with the online PDF system and the information was not adequately saved requiring more time to retype all of the information again. In total my spouse and I spent five hours working on this requirement.
