We all dreamers need this chance of daca because is really important for our life is hard enough to be an immigrant and we need better furure too. we need our studies a better job for ourself , to help our parents that they immigrate to this country looking for a better tomorrow for us they never came to get benefits from this state only support and a better economy life plus the people that will suffer of domestic violence it was a only way to get out and leave everything behind parents, siblings, and much more family to come and look for something better now we have a chance to pay them back for everything they sacrifice for us with DACA we can be better we can do better some of us have everything to have a business a career something good but is just a S.S. number that's stopping us and knowing everything that was going good it can be ended. not everyone is a bad person some of us are looking for a better life without hurting anyone. I really hope you can grab your hand and touch your heart don't be selfish because you had the chance to be born in U.S.A and at least we are trying to be a better person for everyone maybe I'll be one day sitting down next to you and it can only be worth it if you have a little of humanity.
