but there needs to be a limit in how long you allow those displaced to find new arrangements. it cannot go on forever. also rebuilding time and again in a known flood zone simply does not make any sense at all. no sense at all. and allowing new development on the shore of an ocean that will rise also makes no sense at all and on banks of rivers that will have new heights makes no sense at all. FEMA needs to look ahead as well as behind and prevent new development in flood zones. this comment is for the public record please receipt b ker bk1492@aol.com

Abstract: This information collection provides disaster survivors the opportunity to request approval of late applications, continued temporary housing assistance, request advance disaster assistance, stop payments not received in order to be reissued funds, and to appeal program decisions. This collection also allows for the establishment of an annual agreement between FEMA and states, territories, and tribal governments regarding how the Other Needs Assistance provision of IHP will be administered: By FEMA, by the state, territory, or tribal government, or jointly. This collection allows survivors to provide additional information after the initial disaster assistance registration period in support of their applications for assistance from FEMA's IHP. If the information in this collection is not collected, a delay in assistance provided to disaster survivors would occur.
