Lauren,

I work at the University of Missouri Career Center and just want to lend my voice in support of the O*Net site. I understand that the OMB is reviewing the ongoing viability of the website and this tool is used by so many educators in K-12 and higher education settings. It's critical to our career counselling and coaching work and a resource used almost daily by staff and students.

Additionally, a number of software vendors that use O*Net data to support their products (salary data, job codes, etc.). The site and these tools are critical to helping college students choose majors and explore meaningful career paths.

Thank you for collecting and sharing these responses with decision makers.

Best,
Amanda
