

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 10/11/2022 01:25 PMComments Received :

This entire process is a colossal waste of time and resources. The hours spent compiling, completing, and then correcting this information--which is already reported redundantly throughout many of our existing processes--taking us away from our primary function. Which, we are then criticized for not doing at a level expected by many who are not aware of the copious and repetitive documents like this we must complete each and every month/year.