Another commenting period? It's insane we're back here again. The CDC doesn't value science so why are they the ones getting to dictate what precautions should be taken? This fucking virus can be transmitted by vaccinated and they can get infected too. So why keep trying to force people to get this useless vaccine???

The only thing that makes sense to have to show in order to board a plane is a recent negative test result. That's it. Use some common sense.
