

Author Full Name : Matt LevyReceived Date : 12/28/2022 07:28 PMComments Received :

It's patently clear from abundant datasets that mandating a failed experiment is detrimental to human health, rights, intl relations , free informed consent and economic growth. As a Canadian citizen who used to regularly travel to shop or visit the USA I can say categorically I have not now for two years and will not ever if mandates remain. Previously I traveled cross boarder to shop fairly regularly and flew to tourist destinations like Disneyland occasionally. With this unsafe ineffective mandate I have no desire to visit at all except for Florida where I feel supported and welcomed. Please reconsider this terrible policy! Many European countries clearly eliminated mandates as they see the clear and present dangers of MRNA adverse events that are linked to hundreds of sudden death or other terrible health events. Thank you for the option of commenting.