

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 12/29/2022 10:28 AMComments Received :

Good day,

It is time for the US government to let go of the vaccine mandate when the scientific proof has been provided and your own CDC has admitted that being vaccinated does not mean cannot carry or transmit the covid virus!! The CDC has also admitted that there is no difference between a vaccinated and unvaccinated person so trying to extend a vaccine mandate for non citizens is pure theatrics nothing more, nothing less. IT is time to come to the realization that covid has become like any other coronavirus which includes the flu and that it will remain among the common viruses from now on. It is time to move on and live with it!! Time to drop everything and return to how travel used to be prior to March 2020. I think there is ample amount of proof to be the futility of the vaccine mandate along with many other excessively controlling methods that were used such as passports and lockdowns!!