

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 12/29/2022 03:25 PMComments Received :

On what scientific grounds would you want to stop unvaccinated travellers from entering your country when unvaccinated US citizens can come and go and it's already been established that the COVID vaccine does not stop transmission. The US is one of the very few countries left with this restriction. What happened to following the science??? The current science? Even the cdc says there is no difference between a vaccinated and unvaccinated person. Unless the rule is changed to include someone with a booster in the last 90 days someone who got their doses in 2021 is no more protected and than someone completely unvaccinated. This is what the current science promotes.