General Comment

As a researcher, it is imperative that all aspects of well-being are considered and added as an inquiry in the survey including, but not limited to, mental health as well as physical health and this includes the entire family (young children in school may not have the energy to attend or do not perform as well without the proper nutrition, are they a multigenerational household caring for seniors on fixed incomes?). I am sure that geography and community demographics will also be included (do they reside in a food desert?) as well as access to resources (food banks, community resources such as church and private organizations who provide food). It would also be interesting to see how the pandemic affected food security as well.
