HRSA made it clear that the grant recipient would be responsible for data collection. Therefore, we developed and disseminated a trainee survey that includes demographic data and satisfaction data. We will use this information to improve our program going forward. With the addition of HRSA's Trainee Survey, we are concerned about response rates of a secondary survey that asks many of the same questions. Because HRSA will not be sharing individual program data with grantees, we need our own survey for quality improvement.

We would recommend that HRSA provides a template for a survey and allows each grant recipient to disseminate and collect that data, then report it back to HRSA. OR allow HRSA to share individual grantee data back to each grantee.
