General Comment

This new system is requiring a lot of information that I don't have and won't have, not to mention we do not use "contracts". I have been trying to submit information on the test site but keep getting errors and don't know how to get them fixed, which prevents from me going any further. The current system takes me 5-10 minutes to complete. The new system is taking me hours with having to try and find all the extra information and I still can't get anything to go through correctly.
