

Author Full Name : Cristy WatsonReceived Date : 04/11/2024 03:30 PMComments Received :

I am a long time expat living in the Uk. Every year I am very irritated that I am demanded to reveal my private , personal financial details. I find this required filling an extreme government over reach. I have no financial dealings, property or work in the USA and because I have an American passport you want more information about my bank accounts then the country in which I reside has ever asked me. It insulting and baffling.