To Whom It May Concern:

As a tax abiding resident living overseas, the FBAR is extremely onerous and pointless.

Due to my income, savings and pension accounts, I am legally required to file the form. However, there is no reason to suspect me or other ordinary citizens of illicit activity that requires so much paperwork. Rather than punish me and the masses who are like me with paperwork burdens, better to flag those who are truly suspicious and require those individuals to file extensive paperwork.

Best, Alicia Benn
