

Author Full Name : Richard SykesReceived Date : 05/01/2024 05:39 PMComments Received :

I've just read about the gender issue being included in the next census. Personally, I think it is important to include this statistic. The word "test" is ill-advised in the news release. As you might imagine, that is easily taken out of context. Please consider using the word statistic or some other innocuous word that would much more effectively convey the demographic.

Also, If there is a general opinion survey I can contribute to, please contact me. I heartily recommend soliciting public involvement with the Census Bureau. I have no statistics to offer, yet I imagine most people consider the census to be annoying at best and an invasion of privacy on the minimum negative side.