

Author Full Name : Jean W Hanson

Received Date : 06/12/2024 11:53 AM

Comments Received :

I started my career in librarianship just after earning my Master's degree in 1967, and it was in a college library! Subsequently, I worked in another academic library at a different institution--both of these experiences reinforced my appreciation for the vital importance and value of academic libraries to the higher education mission of teaching and learning.