The Academic Libraries Survey has been an important part of the way our small, community college library demonstrates its worth, sets benchmarks, and sustains consistent data collection practices for close to thirty years. The mere fact that the Department of Education collects the data shows our stakeholders that libraries play an essential role in our institution. The collected data provides us with important year-to-year comparisons that align with other information that is collected, like enrollments and budgets. I am very concerned about the planned discontinuation of this longstanding survey and I would like to voice my support for continuing the survey. Thank you for this opportunity to provide feedback.
