

Author Full Name : Clem Guthro

Received Date : 06/12/2024 04:50 PM

Comments Received :

The IPEDS data about academic libraries is an essential resource that I use on a regular basis in bench marking what we do against other libraries. It is the only free and open source of this data and it is essential for library operations but also essential to the University as well.

There is no reason to stop collecting this data. Research libraries are not going away and they play a critical part of the US research infrastructure.

Please keep the IPEDS academic library survey