The data about higher education libraries this program collects provide important information not otherwise available, information that is of interest and importance to higher education institutions and individuals themselves as well as to those those outside academia. I am a retired librarian who directed academic libraries during part of my career. I find it extremely unwise to cease providing the information this survey is intended to collect. In fact, I see the idea of doing that suggests an effort to suppress the information, a truly troubling possibility. Please continue to require this program and continue to collect data from academic libraries.
