The Academic Libraries Survey is a crucial part of the IPEDS. Even though it is a chore for me to fill out I recognize it's importance in helping my and every other academic library make data-driven decisions related to most major aspects of what we do. It is the ONLY freely available source of such information and thus the only affordable source for thousands of smaller academic libraries. I urge you to reconsider any plans to do away with the survey. We need it now more than ever!
