

Author Full Name : AnonymousReceived Date : 06/21/2024 10:44 AMComments Received :

The IPEDS Academic Libraries Survey data is immensely important for both large and small academic libraries. The information is a comparison tool which provides these libraries free access to vital data. This data allows the academic library to strengthen its support of teaching, learning, and research on the campus; which is of great assistance to both students and faculty.