It is important for us to continue to understand the role libraries play in postsecondary education. As the email that alerted me to this issue states, "The Academic Libraries survey makes it possible to understand budget, staffing, and service trends in college and university libraries. These data also allow individual academic libraries to benchmark compared to their institutional peers." I couldn't say it any better myself. Libraries willingly provide these statistics because it helps us collectively make better, data-informed, decisions. Please do not stop doing the Academic Libraries survey.
