How new web site help clean up bad actors? Looks to me like they can fake who they are with new system too? If the new system is as hard to use as other FMCSA sites, than it only make honest carriers and brokers life more complicated. The problem is not a web site it is enforcing the law, there are already laws on the book to stop bad actors, if somebody would enforce them! is this going to stop brokers from taking 70% , double brokering 4 times, or is going stop fake trucking companies operating and scamming everyone ??
