General Comment

Stop draining the swamps. You keep enabling construction projects over swamps and you are destroying critical wildlife areas in doing so. The world's wetlands are slipping away. This vibrant sanctuary underscores the stakes.

It's been 50 years since an international treaty to protect wetlands was created but, around the world, wetlands are still disappearing three times faster than forests. See <https://www.nationalgeographic.com/environment/article/world-wetlands-are-slipping-away-agusan-marsh-underscores-stakes>
