General Comment

I support the Department of Labor's proposed rule to update overtime pay protections. With rising living costs, more workers should be eligible for overtime pay when they work extra hours. This update will help ensure workers are fairly compensated for their time and effort, especially those in middle-income jobs.

I believe these changes will help address wage inequality and improve the lives of many hardworking Americans. Please continue to prioritize protecting workers' rights in today's evolving job market.

Thank you.
