I have been a pain patient for years. I was in a horrible car accident at the age of 15 I am 48 now. I was removed from my pain medication 2 years ago since then my quality of life has suffered I spend most days in bed and some days I pray for death. This is cruel punishment. I was told to take Tylenol and ibuprofen so I can kill my self with two over the counter medication that don't work. The government is evil for taking medication from people with chronic pain. If it isn't hurting the patient why does it matter. I am so sick of the war on drugs. It is a street drug problem and unfortunately that is where most of your pain patients have to go. When did we stop getting treated like people.
