MDs not the CDC are the only ones qualified to make this decision. Pain is not a disease! Its time to drain the swamp and downsize CDC to 10% of its current size. CDC said on the April 10, 2019 letter for Director Redfield that the guidelines are being used out of scope and were never meant to be interpreted or used as a hard limit and the guidelines only applied to GPs who were not formally trained in anesthesiology and pain management, but the CDC data analysts reading coroner reports rather than the reports from deputy sheriffs on the scene that constantly have said for a decade that the overdoses are due to illicit, not prescription, drugs, but somehow CDC and its criminal band of anti-opioid zealots led by the coward Andrew Kolodny who has no experience in pain management have tortured and killed more people than Adolph Hitler. DRAIN THE SWAMP.
