I do not believe this policy is constitutional in its current form. Discrimination on the basis of gender identity is sex discrimination. By implementing these policies, you are necessarily violating long-standing laws and norms in regards to equal protection. The constitution demands that you protect trans rights and rescind this policy. By not accepting gender marker changes--and worse, reverting changes that were already granted--the federal government is putting its citizens in danger. This is an intentional attack on a vulnerable minority.
