

Author Full Name : Jessica Penney

Received Date : 02/19/2025 07:34 PM

Comments Received :

Transgender people, whether you agree with their gender identity or not, are US citizens and have the fundamental right to a passport. It is unconstitutional to hold people captive in their own country. The right to freedom of movement is protected by the Privileges and Immunities Clause of the U.S. Constitution. It is also a part of the UN Declaration of Human Rights.