

Author Full Name : John Templin

Received Date : 02/19/2025 08:19 PM

Comments Received :

Given that renewal of a passport includes verification of a host of personally identifiable information including current passport, social security number, date and place of birth, etc., there is actually no reason to include information about an applicant's sex for the purposes of renewal.