I am commenting to support the inclusivity of gender markers in regards to passport regulation. It's very important that we continue to support the freedoms and liberties of the American people to live their lives as they see fit - that's the foundation of American values, and whether the administration agrees or not, will remain as such until the end of time. We are a country founded on the idea that we all deserve to have a share in a new life - if we deny that right now, we spit in the faces of our ancestors just for setting out to a new world. The right thing to do is and always will be, to fight for the people of America to be free to be who they are. This issue will always be important and relevant.
