Changing federal gender markers to only include “biological sex at birth” is a discriminatory practice that denies the reality of how Americans actually live. Intersex Americans do not fit into simple “F” and “M” categories! Many Americans do not “look” like their biological sex at birth, so making this change will cause problems and confusion wherever passports are needed, and waste time and resources. Also, this change will inevitably be targeted by multiple legal responses which will, again, simply waste time and resources before it is eventually—inevitably—overturned. This is a terrible, unjust idea that should not happen.
