

Author Full Name : Jillian Scharr

Received Date : 02/19/2025 11:20 PM

Comments Received :

I object to the recent change requiring sex assigned at birth to be on a person's passport. If a person is living as a different gender than the one assigned at birth, that is the gender that should be on their identification. And a person's sex organs are no business of the state department.

Most importantly, transgender people have rights and dignity and must not be made to be second-class citizens.