Forbidding or retracting the ability for members of the transgender community to properly identify themselves in their passport is a violation of their rights to life, liberty, and the pursuit of happiness. A person who has transitioned, but is forced to use their birth gender will be in danger in many places around the globe. A person who cannot identify themselves as they are has had their liberty revoked, for committing no crime. A transgender person, who by and large want to be left alone, cannot engage in the pursuit of happiness if they cannot achieve the base requirement of deciding who exactly it is they are. These anti-trans motions and bills are dangerous, unpatriotic, and serve no purpose to the greater good.
