These changes were a waste of time and money. They in no way protect the dignity of women and girls, nor were they intended to. Their only purpose was to hurt trans and intersex people.

By the way, due to the extreme ignorance and inaccuracy of the Executive Order that necessitated this change, passports should really only have one option: female, as all zygotes are female at conception. As anyone who remembers high school biology could tell you, sex differences (including the capacity to "produce the large gamete") only start to appear at six weeks.
